North Wales Premier 4 Star Hotel

The St George's Hotel was opened in the spring of 1854. It was built by Isaiah Davies, who was just 24 years old. He was born in a farm on the Great Orme and inherited a pub called the King's Head (which is still in operation at the foot of the Great Orme near the tram station) when he married the owner's daughter, Anne Owen, when he was only 19 years old. Isaiah acquired the plot in a rather unusual way, by exchanging the drinking debts at the King's Head, which were owned by John Williams, who was agent for Lord Mostyn's family, who owned all the lands at Llandudno Promenade.

The St George's has been extended several times over the years. The Water Tower was added to accommodate the first lift to be installed in Llandudno. The Lloyd Wing was erected in 1878 on the site of the hotel stables, from where the town's first bus service began in 1856 to Conwy Railway Station. The hotel provided its own bus to take its guests to and from the station.

The foyer still holds the original brass bell-knobs labelled 'Boots', 'Ostler' and 'Chambermaid'. These knobs were used by some very famous and distinguished people like Napoleon III and his wife Princess Eugenie, Bismarck, Disraeli, Gladstone, Churchill, Lloyd George and John Bright. Queen Elizabeth of Romania stayed at the hotel for five weeks in 1890, and was delighted with her visit, describing Wales as 'a haven of peace'

In 1862 Dean Liddell, his family and their maids (a party of twelve) stayed at the St George's for the summer. His daughter Alice aged 8, was later immortalised in the Alice in Wonderland story by Lewis Carroll.

Eight British Prime Ministers have stayed at the hotel including Winston Churchill, Margaret Thatcher, John Major, Tony Blair and Gordon Brown.
